E-Discovery Seminar

A. Understanding the “electronic in E-Discovery (3 CLE)

Speaker: Eric Fleckles

If you have ever found e-discovery concepts and technology intimidating, confounding, or otherwise unknowable – this is the session for you. Come find out the current state of technology in e-discovery and explore the hot topics. This afternoon session will cover the following topics:

1. Where we are now with e-Discovery: The evolution of Electronic Data Discovery (“EDD”)
2. Hot topics in e-Discovery: Technology Assisted Review, Analytics, and more...
3. Practical EDD Tips: Non tech solutions and determining if you should hire an EDD consultant
4. Q & A session: Everything you have always wanted to know about e-discovery but were afraid to ask

SPEAKER

ERIC FLECKLES

Mr. Fleckles has worked over twenty years in the technology industry, and is now the Principal Advisor of Ridgeback Venture Group. He consults with clients in the areas of electronic discovery, computer forensics, enterprise technology and strategy, and information security. Prior to Ridgeback, Mr. Fleckles served as the CIO for Goodsell Anderson Quinn & Stifel where he was responsible for all of the firm’s information technology & security, information life cycle management, and knowledge management initiatives. He also provided the firm expertise on the technological aspects of electronic discovery issues and computer forensics, and consulted for the firm on client matters.

Mr. Fleckles holds a Master’s of Science Degree in Information Systems with an emphasis in Telecommunications Security, and a Bachelor’s of Science degree in Computer Science, and is also a GIAC Certified Incident Handler (GCIH # 26881). Eric is also a Microsoft Certified Systems Engineer (MCSE). Eric has frequently presented on a multitude of topics ranging from Legal Technology and Information Security, to Social Networking and Electronic Discovery Issues. He is a member of the International Legal Technology Association, the Information Systems Security Association, the Association of Legal Administrators, and the Hawaii Infragard Chapter.
