TOPIC: When many attorneys think of retirement, they think of traveling and relaxing, but they also want to find ways to continue to help others and have a sense of purpose. Three of our colleagues have found ways to combine their legal expertise, through volunteer and paid work, with their love of travel. Come and hear about their experiences, how they got these great "gigs" and get some ideas to help you start your own retirement travel plans.

SPEAKERS:

Family Law Attorney Bradley Coates built upon some of the public speaking he did in support of his book Divorce with Decency and turned it into a second career as a lecturer aboard Princess Cruises. Mr. Coates has been a popular speaker for Princess for over 15 years now and in that role has been fortunate to travel to over 130 countries on all 7 continents.

As part of the ABA's Rule of Law Initiative, Evelyn Lance (retired Family Court judge), has worked pro bono with justice system partners in Russia, the Balkans, Central Asian, Asian, Middle Eastern and North African countries. Issues have included women's legal rights, with a major focus on building foundations for judicial independence.

As a member of the Uniform Law Commission, Ken Takayama has traveled to many different cities in the United States for meetings with other commissioners. He has helped to draft and enact uniform legislation on issues including elections, property, and family law, among others. In addition, he has used this travel as a jumping off point for leisure travel
