Please note the following regarding the LRIS:

The LRIS does not 'list' all the attorneys licensed to practice in the State of Hawaii; only those bar members who decide to become panel members. In addition, the attorneys are in private practice and will charge for services and determine the cases they will take. For the above stated but not limited to reasons; our program has limitations. Therefore it may be that not every request made to our office will receive the assistance requested.

Our program is an option the public may choose to use when trying to locate attorneys to assist them with their legal issues. Outside of our office potential clients may use other resources available in print or on the world wide web for locating lawyers.
